

The Skill Verification Lifecycle

What actually happens to a form between the moment it's issued and the moment it's accepted — and why the Dashboard and the Live Forms page don't always agree on what to show.

01 The five things you'll see next to a skill

These badges appear on the Home dashboard next to an expiring skill, and drive the filters on the Live Forms page.

Sent

Link issued, waiting on the member.

Submitted

Answered. AI is scoring it — usually instant.

Accepted

Passed scoring, or an admin approved it.

Rejected

Out of retries and still below the mark.

No badge

Nothing issued — or aged out / archived.

02 One form's journey

There's no manual grading queue by default — the AI decides pass/fail the instant a member submits, against the Minimum Score set on that form.

STEP 1

Form issued

Admin sends the link. The skill's current expiry date and the form's questions are snapshotted at this moment.

STEP 2

Member submits

Answers are recorded. Status flips to Submitted, then straight into scoring.

STEP 3

AI scores it

Compared against the form's Minimum Score. Three possible outcomes below.

PASS

→ Accepted

Green tick on the dashboard. Member is notified.

BELOW MARK, RETRIES LEFT

→ Back to Sent

Same link, another attempt — up to the form's Max Tries.

BELOW MARK, NO RETRIES

→ Rejected

Red cross on the dashboard. Member is notified.

An admin can also open any submission on Live Forms and manually Approve or Reject it — this overrides the AI outcome, and rejecting can archive the old record while issuing a brand-new link in one step.

03 Two places show status — they're not the same view

This is the single most common source of "it looks like nothing happened."

Home Dashboard

a quick-glance board

- Sent and Submitted badges stay until the record is archived — there's no expiry on those.
- Accepted and Rejected badges are only shown for a limited window after review, then they quietly drop off.
- Answers a narrow question: "what needs my attention today?"

Live Forms page

the full record

- Shows every non-archived record, no matter how old.
- Nothing ages off this list on its own — only an explicit Archive action hides a record here.
- This is the source of truth for "did this member actually do it?"

04 Common scenarios

Q. The green tick vanished from the dashboard, but the member did submit.

This is expected. Once a form has been sitting in Accepted or Rejected for longer than the visibility window (30 days by default), the dashboard stops showing the badge. The record itself is untouched — check Live Forms, it will still show accepted. See the setting below if 30 days is too short for your reporting cycle.

Q. A member submitted, but no tick or cross ever appeared.

Check the try count on Live Forms. If they scored below the minimum but still have retries left, the record quietly goes back to Sent so they can try again — nothing to action yet.

Q. I rejected a submission and ticked "issue a new form."

The old record is archived automatically and a fresh link is generated. The member's original answers aren't lost — they're just off the default list now.

Q. I can't find a record I know exists.

It's almost certainly archived. Switch on the Archived filter on Live Forms — archived records are hidden by default everywhere, but never deleted.

Q. Do I need to personally review every submission?

No — acceptance and rejection happen automatically against the form's Minimum Score. Manual Approve / Reject on Live Forms is there for the exceptions: a borderline answer, a member dispute, or a forced outcome.

Q. The expiry date shown on an old submission looks out of date.

That date is captured once, the moment the form is sent — it's a snapshot, not a live link to the skill. If the skill's expiry has since changed in OSM, the current dashboard row reflects that; the historical form record intentionally doesn't.

The one setting worth knowing

SETTING	DEFAULT	WHAT IT CONTROLS	WHERE TO CHANGE IT
ACCEPTED_FORM_VISIBILITY_DAYS	30 days	How long an Accepted or Rejected badge stays visible on the Home dashboard after review.	Environment configuration (.env)
Minimum Score	per form	The pass mark the AI scores each submission against.	Forms builder, per template
Max Tries	3	How many times a member can retry the same form before it's auto-rejected.	Forms builder, per template

Nothing is ever silently deleted: archived and aged-off records remain in Live Forms with the Archived filter switched on.
